The annual fundraising letter went out just before Thanksgiving. So far, we have raised $2,749.00 of the $2,000 projected. We also sent out our membership renewal letter in mid-December and have received about half back. I plan to send a reminder in the next couple weeks. The Business Partner letters will go out next week.

We have some great programs coming up. We are still looking for sponsors for our programs in 2018, in addition to ideas for programs:

Thursday, January 18th at 6 p.m.: "Remembering the Battle of the Bulge" with Eric Percy (SPONSOR: VFW)

Thursday, February 22nd at 6 p.m.: "Beekeeping: From Waupaca to the Jungles of Nicaragua" with Kent Pegorsch (POSSIBLE SPONSOR: MAIN STREET MARKETPLACE)

March: OPEN

Thursday, April 19th at 6 p.m.: "Quilts of the Past: The Civil War" with Alison Rainboth

May: OPEN

Thursday, June 14th at 6 p.m.: "Past, Present and Future of the Danes Hall" with Jack Koehler

I am still in the process of nailing down programs in March and May. Any additional ideas you might have would be great!

I attended the Wisconsin Federation of Museum's annual conference in Cedarburg on Monday, November 6th. I attended a number of thought-provoking sessions and also got to network with other museum professionals. I also visited the Cedarburg History Museum, a new museum, which gave me some ideas for future exhibits.

We advertised the Hutchinson House Curator position early in November through the County Post and the Buyer's Guide. We also have put it up on our website and on our Facebook page. We have not yet received any applications for the position.

On Tuesday, November 21st, I spoke in front of City Council to talk about the great things the Waupaca Historical Society is doing and to thank the City for their support each year. I spoke of our attendance to programs, our buildings and our increased rentals and fundraising. I also mentioned our fundraising campaign. It appeared to be well-received.

We had 186 people attend the Jerry Apps program on December 7th at Trinity Lutheran Church. We had many wonderful comments about our program (and past programs) and also received $65 in donations. Thank you to all that helped with the program!

Respectfully submitted,

Tracy Behrendt
Director, WHS
